During the recent Volunteer march past before the Queen at Edinburgh, the Royal flag used at the saluting point was that on which the arms of Scotland are blazoned on the first and fourth quarters, and of England and Ireland on the second and third. A further compliment was paid to the Scottish pride by the march past being done to the music of the pipes of the "Black Watch" and of the 71st Highland Light Infantry.

The directors of the Bank of British Columbia, at their recent meeting in London, in submitting to the shareholders the statement of accounts for the half-year ending 30th June last, have to report that after paying all charges and deducting rebate of interest on bills not due, the balance at the credit of profit and loss account at that date was £15,490 13s. 10d., which they proposed to appropriate as follows, viz., £2,650 in payment of a dividend for the half-year at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum (free of income-tax), leaving £6,840 13s. 10d. to be carried forward.

A curious will case has just been decided in Dublin. Miss Newport, of that city, who died last January very wealthy, left all her money to charitable institutions. The will was contested on the ground of insanity. One proof of her madness was her fondness for cats and her treatment of a colony of those animals which she kept on her premises. One of her habits was to assemble the feline crowd in the garden and engage them in controversial exercises. They were so many that she could not tell without reference to a memorandum book how large their number was. Her ambition was to have a cat for every day in the week, including Sundays. She used to be much distressed because of the scampish conduct of some of her cats, which remained out at nights, and were otherwise irregular in their habits. At the controversial meetiug she would assemble as many as were at home and could be induced to attend in the garden, and there read portions of Scripture to them "to convert them," she said, "from their wicked course of life." She started controversial points for their instruction and dismissed them with prayer. She was so thoroughly identified with her cats that it was her delight to go about the room on all fours mewing for milk. Once, when found purring under the piano and remonstrated with, she put up her back and spat at the intruder like a veritable tabby in a temper. There was evidence to show that, after this, she put off the cat, went out dressed like a lady, and overhauled her butcher's bill. But the jury couldn't get over the garden scenes with the cats of irregular habits, and so they found that Miss Newport was mad when she made her will, and the eleven poor relations have divided her money between them.

The Papal Allocution of the 29th of June attributed all the recent attempts against the lives of rulers to the Reformation. "Never," says a Berlin newspaper, "has greater provocation been received by the Protestant Church." This allocution produced far greater effect in Germany than in Italy. The Germans remind the Pope of Ravaillac, of Jacques Clement, of the night of Saint Bartholomew, of the Waldenses, the Albigenses, of the Borgias and the Bourbons, to prove that all regicides, massacres and outrages are not the outgrowth of Protestanism.

One fine summer's morning, thirteen years ago, when the German gambling season was at its height, the late M. and Madame Blanc started from Wiesbaden at an early hour to spend the day at Homburg. Upon arriving at their destination, Madame Blanc discovered that she had left her parasol at home, and insisted that her husband should buy her a new one. Somewhat reluctantly he invested eighty francs in a parasol of great fashion and beauty, but forthwith resolved to recoup himself so unwonted an extravagance at the tables. Accordingly he walked straight into the Conversations-Saal devoted to trente-et-quarante and took up a strategic position to the right of the chief croupier. His appearance created a lively sensation. Half-a-dozen chairs were obsequiously proffered to him by the official, but he declined them upon the ground that he only intended to remain at the table for a minute or two, it would not be worth his while to sit down. He then addressed himself to the enterprise of recovering the price of his wife's new parasol, by setting two louis on the black. Black won; whereupon, taking up his gains, he left his original stake on the table and lost it by the next coup. These alternations went on for some time, never one leaving him eighty francs—the sum he had resolved to win—to the good. By-and-bye a vein set in against him. He called for a chair, sat down, and produced his pocket-book. Presently, his funds being exhausted, he began to borrow from the bank. Hour after hour, with brief and intermittent flashes of luck, delusively encouraging him to persist, he strove to pay for the parasol at the expense of his own institution. When, however, the tables closed at eleven p.m., M. Blanc found, to his extreme vexation and disgust, that his wife's forgetfulness had cost him exactly three thousand six hundred and forty pounds.

Our Public Schools.

TO THE EDITOR.—On Sunday morning last appeared a letter signed "Point Blank" in which some hard things were said against the public school system as it exists in this province. On first sight I thought the writer had gone rather far in the direction of denunciation, but the more I have thought on the subject the more convinced I am that there is only too much truth in what he has said touching the Godless character of our public schools. So far as our public school system is concerned it cannot be denied that the children who attend those schools are being put through a course of instruction from which they will graduate as so many cultivated heathen. By authority of the legislature and the express injunctions of the superintendent of education the Bible and every semblance of Christianity are banished from the schools, as if the precepts of the one were calculated to blast the moral and spiritual growth of the children, and the other to sap the very foundation upon which society is based. As a plea in justification of this heathenizing system of education we are told "that history proves we cannot condone sectarianism for the evil it has wrought; it is therefore just and right to preclude the possibility of its making state education the arena for manifold strife." The author of the above quotation ought to know, and I feel it to be no want of charity to say he does know, that it is quite possible to conduct public schools on Christian principles without making them "the arena for manifold strife." The Irish national school system, and the school system of the province of Ontario, have established this fact beyond the power of anyone to gainsay. Under both these systems the principles of our common Christianity are recognized and the children instructed therein. True, the narrow principles of sectarianism are not included, nor should they be; but those principles or beliefs which are held and taught in common by all denominations of Christians should at least be recognized, if not dogmatically taught in the public schools. Cannot our children be allowed to read that "God is love;" that "In Him we live and move and have our being;" that "God sent his only begotten son into the world that we might live through him;" that "if God so loved us we ought to love one another;" and "to do unto others as we would wish to be done by," without incurring the risk of kindling into a blaze the fires of sectarian strife and bitterness? There is not a body of Christians in existence that does not recognize the above as fundamental principles of their creed and to disbelieve any one of them is to step outside the pale of Christianity. But the objector will ask what about Jews and Pagans in our midst? Must not their peculiar views be respected? Certainly, but not to the extent of ignoring our Christianity. If they have conscientious scruples against their children being instructed in the principles of Christianity the children of such parents should be permitted to retire during the reading of scripture lessons or any other exercises of a Christian character that might form a part of daily instruction. But under no pretense whatever should it be put in the power of "Point Blank" or anyone else to say that the public schools of this province are absolutely and unequivocally Godless in principle and practice. That there are such now is but too true. The time is not far distant when Christian parents will demand a change and that change must come. I advocate no sectarian system of instruction, but on the other hand I protest against what is a still greater evil, the converting our public schools into nurseries of infidelity, from which the rising generation are to be sent forth destitute of a knowledge of God and to all intents and purposes educated heathens.

PATERFAMILIAS.

DEATH IN THE COFFEE POT.—The public are cautioned against purchasing imported California ground coffee. Its cheapness is its only recommendation. The ingredients are of the vilest description, as anyone using it will discover should he examine the grounds. During the perihelia of the planets people should be careful what they eat and drink. Don't allow your grocer to palm off his trash upon you, because it pays him better to sell it than the good article. Ask for FELL & Co.'s Coffee and take no other. *

PARTIES wishing to purchase fire department supplies can obtain full information by applying to J. WRIGLESWORTH, corner of Yates and Blanchard street, Victoria, where the latest improvements can be seen. Price lists furnished from all the leading cities of the world. *

SUNDAY MORNING, SEPT. 25TH, 1881.

COLLAPSE OF THE FRENCH TREATY NEGOTIATIONS.

The announcement made in both Houses of Parliament regarding the negotiations for a new treaty of commerce with France deals a coup de grace to the expectations of those who hoped against hope that the statesmen of the republic would modify their extravagant demands. The French government, it seems, were ready to resume in Paris the negotiations interrupted some weeks ago in London, and suggested the 22nd of August as the day for starting. They accompanied their invitation, however, with certain proposals with reference to the duties on iron and on cotton and woolen goods. Her Majesty's ministers were prepared to accept those as a basis for discussion, but coupled with their assent the condition that the existing treaty should be extended for a period of three months. The French declined to admit the condition and the negotiations have, therefore, fallen through, and there seems to be little or no prospect of their being renewed. Great Britain is thus brought face to face with the fact that the present treaty expires next November, and there is seemingly no chance of any other taking its place. English goods after that date will therefore enter France, when they enter at all, subject to the prohibitory duties of the general tariff. As the British trade with the French will in consequence be greatly curtailed, if not destroyed, it is certain that we shall largely cease to import French goods and products in exchange. It is significant that the champions of "free imports" who have discoursed ad nauseam on the advantage of excessive imports now proclaim that the cessation of exports from England to France must destroy the British import trade from France, which ought not, surely, to be the case, if their former declarations on the the subject were well founded. It is, so far, satisfactory to be told, after all the statements of the great benefits England won through the French treaty, that France will suffer a great deal more than England through the rupture of the trading arrangements. The French, we know, do not believe so, for they have been under the impression that the precise converse of of that will be true; and they have been taught this by the seeming anxiety of the English government to have a new treaty. Mr. Gladstone's eagerness to proffer a reduction of the wine duties the moment he came into office last year confirmed them in their belief and led to the unfavorable change which took place in the attitude of France and the abandonment of the conciliatory terms which M. LEON SAY had previously suggested. Under these circumstances the present government must be held in a great measure responsible for the present failure and for whatever losses will result. On the other hand England will be glad that it has recovered its fiscal freedom, even at some cost, and no long time is likely to elapse before demands are raised that the government shall make prompt use of its restored freedom in the interest of English trade.

THE LAST SAD RITES.

Mother Earth will open wide her bosom to-morrow to receive all that is mortal of the late president GARFIELD, whose body will then be laid away to rest. "Dust to dust, ashes to ashes." The United States had no better or truer patriot to offer as a sacrifice on the altar of principle than the man who now lies dead at Cleveland. Starting at Cleveland the solemn toll of bells will sweep round the globe; each civilized nation will take up the refrain and having echoed it will pass it on booming in mournful cadence until the circle is complete and the air laden with the woeful tidings. The nation has sustained a great loss indeed, but the shock which civilization has received is most to be deplored. The Americans who will meet to-morrow to weave chaplets to their martyred president have the sympathy of all Christendom. Their sorrow is the world's sorrow, and their bereavement is only less keenly felt throughout Great Britain than in the United States.

A LADY recently deceased aged 99 years and 6 months, mother of 20 children, 10 of whom became parents of large families. There were present at her funeral 200 persons who had a right to call her mother or grandmother. The cause of her long life was attributed to her eccentric and positive movements. She was handsome, powerful, quiet, and reliable, had many friends, in fact we must add with all her excellent points and superiority she was a model of perfection. Her children will retain her revered name as a comfort and a blessing to all nations not excepting British Columbia. The light silent Wanzer. T.W. Will Guiteau be Hung?

TO THE EDITOR:—Few persons would hesitate to answer this question in the affirmative, and likely, scarce one could be found either here or throughout the American nation who would not willingly—if the lot fell to him—consent to become the executioner of the miserable wretch whose cruel mania for notoriety has inflicted such terrible sorrow, not only on a whole mighty nationality, but as well on the whole civilized world. But law is law, and even though this fellow is to be tried in a court of justice, in a country where it would be impossible to empanel a jury of twelve men, either of whom would allow himself for one moment to cherish any sympathy for the prisoner at the bar, it actually seems absurd to be obliged to recognize the probability that notwithstanding all the terrible animus of the nation and the world, and notwithstanding the intensity of feeling pervading all hearts inimical to the interests of this would-be assassin, Guiteau can never legally be pronounced a murderer, and therefore, unless lynch-law intervene, can never be hung. Unfortunately law is not always justice, and righteous laws must of necessity be so framed as to make the president's life of no greater import than that of the humblest citizen. The particular incidents connected with the shooting some few years ago of the the then popular Jim Fiske by Stokes, on the stairs of a leading hotel in New York are not under the hand of the writer at this moment, but it will be remembered that the case was in its leading features peculiarly parallel to that of President Garfield, and yet "Was Stokes hung?" The testimony in reference to the shooting, the identification of the would-be murderer, the vile intent, the murderous purpose, the malice prepense, were clear and conclusive, but there were extenuating circumstances, and it became questionable whether, after all, Stokes was the direct or immediate cause of the death of Fiske. The shooting was not immediately fatal; most eminent medical and surgical aid was promptly rendered and Fiske lingered but a few hours. But between the shooting and the death there intervened sufficient time to allow of dosing by the doctors; and morphine was injected to deaden the nervous susceptibilities and quiet the pain, opiates were administered to produce slumber, drugging in other ways resorted to and stimulants given, until it actually became a matter for earnest consideration whether drugopathy had not more to do with the death than Stokes. Even the doctors differed, and there were those among them—eminent men—who doubted, and some, too, expressed opinions relative to Fiske's medical treatment so directly adverse as to lead many sensible persons to avow that the whole drug-medical system was a farce and an imposition. Fiske was a man of good vital organization, and it was proved almost beyond a doubt to all others than fatalists or predestinarians that even without medical aid of any kind death from the wound need not necessarily have ensued for many days or, perhaps, weeks or months, if at all. President Garfield's case has even more extenuating circumstances attending it than that of Fiske. Fiske lingered a few hours, Garfield for months. Guiteau must now come forth to stand his trial under the awful gaze of thousands of his enraged countrymen. He exults in his crime and glories in his heartless act, as though he had rescued his country from irretreivable disgrace and ruin; but the people, to a man, view his purposes and act as fiendish and diabolical, and consider hanging too good for such an arch fiend as he really is, and yet "Will Guiteau be hung?" Let us see. As in the case of Fiske the evidence of the doctors will be conflicting. We are all familiar with the fact that at the very outset a fearful jealousy arose out of an exciteable struggle between two or more rival physicians who wished to control the case. Eminent counsel will, of course, act for the prisoner. All the evidence in his favor will be as carefully produced as though he were the most innocent man on earth, and there will be a host of witnesses from the ranks of even drug-medical men—allopaths—(contraria contrariis curantur) who will testify that in their honest opinions, much of the treatment was far from being even justifiable under the immediate circumstances; and there will be physicians of the homœopathic school, (similia similibus curantur) who will denounce the whole allopathic course; and physicians of the hygeio-therapeutic school (naturalia naturus curantur) who will declare that the whole method of drugopathy is contrary to common sense, and entirely irreconcileable with the teachings of nature, and assert their firm belief that, considering the president's abundant vitality at the time of the shooting, if left entirely to the vis-medicatrix, nature and a skillful surgeon he might with great probability and possibility have recovered. The diagnosing drugging, dietetics, enemata, stimulation, and indeed the whole course pursued, may be seriously called in question, and from the drug school itself may be brought professor Evans, M.D., F.R.S., who says: "The medical practice of our day has neither philosophy nor common sense to commend it to confidence." Next, professor Ramage, M.D., F.R.S., who says: "I fearlessly assert that in most cases the patient would be safer without a physician than with one;" next Dr. Francis Cogswell, of Boston, who says: "It is my firm belief that if the medical profession with its prevailing mode of practice were absolutely abolished, mankind would be infinitely the gainer." Next, Dr. James Johnson, F.R.S., editor of the Medico-Chirurgical Review, who says: "I declare as my conscientious conviction, founded on long experience and reflection, that if there were not a single physician, surgeon, chemist, apothecary, druggist or drug on the face of the earth, there would be less sickness and less mortality than now prevail;" next, Professor Frank, M.D., London, who says: "Thousands are annually slaughtered in the quiet sick room."

There may be some who will testify that if the president had acted as Charles O'Connor, the celebrated New York lawyer did, when pronounced by his physicians at the point of death, or as the Prince of Wales did when lying in a dreadfully precarious condition at Sandringham, and had entirely discarded the medicines, the chances were indeed favorable for his recovery. And hygienic physicians will say that the poor president was stimulated with a whiskey-diet, as the poor tired horse is stimulated with the whip, opiates were given him to repress the fever the stimulant had created; and when quiet and rest were most imperatively necessary he was beset by day and by night by the medical attendants to discover the condition of his pulse and temperature, and absolutely

"Drugged and tortured and scared, and then Drugged and tortured and scared again," until the poor tired body sank at last into rest eternal. In the face of all the conflicting evidence that will be produced, does it remain even problematical, that the chances for Guiteau's life—apart from lynch-law—continue as favorable as those of any who may read this paper. The reason why Guiteau will not be hung is given in two short simple words: "DOCTORS DIFFER."

MARRIED.

At Clinton on the 20th inst. by the Rev. James Turner, assisted by the Rev. H. Chappell, B. A., Stephen A. Arnold, Esq., of the firm of McCulley, Arnold & Co., to Helen, youngest daughter of Matthew McCulley, Esq., of Cambridge, Ohio, and sister to John McCulley, Esq., Clinton.

Adjourned Meeting of American Citizens.

A well attended meeting of American citizens took place yesterday at 4 p. m. in the Consulate, Yates street, Hon. A. Francis in the chair and E. C. Neufelder secretary.

A letter addressed by the chairman to Capt. Stephens, R. N., and that officer's reply were read as follows:

UNITED STATES CONSULATE,
VICTORIA, V. I., Sept. 23, 1881.

Captain Prescott W. Stephens, Royal Navy, H. M. S. Thetis.

SIR.—Having received official information relating to the death of the president of the United States I beg to inform you that the funeral has been appointed to take place in Cleveland, Ohio, on the afternoon of the 26th inst., and that the American residents of this city have made arrangements for the firing of 100 minute guns in the vicinity of Beacon Hill commemorating this sad event.

With great respect, I have the honor to be, sir, Your obedient servant,

ALLEN FRANCIS.

H. M. S. THETIS,
ESQUIMALT, Sept. 24th, 1881.

SIR.—I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letter dated 22nd inst. and to thank you for informing me that the funeral of the late president of the United States will take place on the afternoon of the 20th inst. and that the American residents in Victoria have made arrangements for the firing of 100 minute guns on the occasion to commemorate the sad event.

As soon as the sad intelligence of the president's death reached me the flags of H. M. ships in Esquimalt and those at the government establishment were ordered to be half masted, and they will remain so till after the funeral has taken place. It will be a melancholy satisfaction to me to join you and your countrymen in the expression of your respect and grief at the loss the American nation is called on to sustain; and to fire 100 minute guns from H. M. ships under my command at the time indicated.

I avail myself of this opportunity to offer you and the American residents in Victoria my sincere sympathy for them, for the nation at large and for the afflicted family of the late president.

I have the honor to be, sir,
your obedient servant,
P. W. STEPHENS.

Captain and senior officer, Vancouver Island.

It was moved, seconded and carried unanimously that the secretary forward a letter of thanks to Captain Stephens for his kind and sympathetic letter and for his great mark of esteem in ordering 100 minute guns to be fired on the 26th inst.

Preamble and resolutions were read and adopted as follows:

Preamble:—Whereas in the death of our President, Jas. A. Garfield, we have with unfeigned sorrow to mourn the loss of one whose mental qualifications and virtues constituted him an honor to our country. His elevated character made him a chief magistrate of great usefulness, a man unselfish and without blemish. The purity, justice, gentleness and strength of his whole character has added new lustre to the American name. So marked and individualized were his characteristics that his identification with measures of importance to the State was a bond of public confidence. It is fitting therefore that we, who are debarred by foreign residence from active participation, should join in an expression of the sad sentiments of sympathy it awakes in our minds and of those who share in the bereavement.

Be it therefore

Resolved: That the announcement of the death of our President, Jas. A. Garfield falls upon us with the weight of a calamity in the intensity of its sadness.

That in common with our fellow countrymen we deeply deplore the close of a life honorable by the habitual practice of the virtues which elevate humanity, and presenting an example worthy of universal imitation.

Resolved: That the American citizens resident at Victoria, B. C., desire to make known to the family of our deceased President the sentiments they entertain regarding his memory, and the sincere and heartfelt sympathy they feel in their sad bereavement.

Resolved: While sharing in the grief of a fond mother and the affliction of a noble wife, the fortitude and uncomplaining devotion evinced by Mrs. Garfield will ever remain an example to be emulated by all womanhood.

The following telegram was then read and ordered to be transmitted to Mrs. Garfield:

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 27, 1881.
MRS. JAMES A. GARFIELD,
CLEVELAND, OHIO.

DEAR MADAM:—The American residents of this city tender their heartfelt condolence to yourself and family in the irreparable loss of a kind and devoted husband and an affectionate and endeared father, with assurances of cherishing as one of their country's legacies the memory of him whom they in common with the nation mourn. (Signed)

ALLEN FRANCIS, U. S. Consul.
Hon. Chairman.
EDGAR MARVIN, JOHN KURTZ, THO. LUBBE, } Committee on behalf of citizens.
E. C. NEUFELDER,
Hon. Secretary.

The Chairman suggested that a resolution should be adopted thanking the citizens of Victoria generally for the deep sympathy that has been manifested in the calamity that has befallen our neighboring republic.

A motion was adopted instructing the secretary to draft a resolution in accordance with the chairman's suggestions.

A resolution was carried asking Rev. R. H. Smith to deliver his memorial address at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The Chairman remarked that the rev. gentleman had already consented to comply with the wishes of the committee.

On the question of place coming up it was thought that Mr. Smith's own church would be quite too small to hold the congregation. The Skating Rink was suggested but it was not considered suitable on account of not being properly seated. Mr. Jessop, on behalf of the pastor and trustees of the Methodist church, placed that edifice at the disposal of the committee. The offer was at once accepted and a cordial vote of thanks to the trustees and pastor of the church was passed.

The subscription list was opened and many names were put down for sums of five dollars and under.

The chairman stated that the committee had decided that whatever money might be left after all expenses were paid would be forwarded to the Mrs. Garfield Fund. This announcement was received with much applause.

It was moved, seconded and carried, that all American residents should attend the memorial services at the Methodist church with a badge of mourning on the left arm.

A further resolution was passed that all places of business belonging to American residents be closed at noon to-morrow.

The meeting then adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

FROM YALE.—The steamer Western Slope arrived from Yale and way ports at 10 o'clock yesterday morning with a good passenger list, 160 bales of hay for Baker & Son, from Chilliwhack and 1500 cases salmon consigned to Findlay, Durham & Brodie. Putting this freight on board caused the detention. She left again for Yale at 11 o'clock last night with a large freight and a number of possengers.

PUBLIC FUNERAL.—The local government have proclaimed Monday as a day when the public offices of the province will be closed. Grand Master Chambers of the Masonic Order, has directed that all the lodges of this province shall be draped in mourning for the space of 30 days in respect to the memory of late Brother Garfield.

Rev. Coverdale Watson will preach morning and evening at the usual hours in the Methodist church.

There are 140,000 Baptists in the Maritime Provinces, of whom 37,000 are members.

The English Wesleyans have more ministers than they want, and at the recent Conference they declined to accept any at all. As a result 72 candidates who had been recommended by the committee were turned away.

It is said that the venerable Bishop Potter of New York has in all the 27 years of his office consecrated but one Episcopal church in his diocese—not because scores of handsome ones have not been built, but because he has an inflexible rule to consecrate no church until it is wholly paid for. Next month he will consecrate the second church in his official career, a fine new edifice at New Rochelle.

The Rev. Wolcott Calkins, formerly pastor of the North church in Buffalo, has a very characteristic "short sermon," the text being the seventh commandment, in the Congregationalist for August 24. He begins by saying, "The novels are teaching our young men and maidens about all they know of marriage before they are married, and about all the novels teach is a wicked lie."

It is understood that a conference of ritualistic clergymen will take place in London shortly, at which, among other things, the advisability of adopting a uniform standard of ritual will be discussed. There is at present the widest divergence as to the color, and form of vestments, the use of altar lights, the position of the officiating priest, etc., even in churches where the closest study has been devoted to such questions for many years.

Egyptian scholars say that the ancient Egyptians believed in a purgatory. They held that on his removal from this earth the average man at once enters upon a fresh series of mental conflicts. He is confronted by dangers and tortured by demons. The whole story is one of trial. The ritual lays down the procedure most clearly. There must be suffering for the expiation of guilt, and there must be tests to bring out the character.

"The Living Church of God" is the name of a new religious sect which has started in Michigan. It has a membership of 300, which is increasing very fast. The services of the church are very similar to the ceremonies of the Episcopalians. They believe in a very simple manner of life, and adhere tenaciously to their views. The members are all called "the chosen" and are admitted to the society with great form, and a prescribed order of exercises, much like some of the secret societies. They claim to be possessed of some very grave secrets regarding the near approach of the world which have been imparted to them by divine inspiration. Their preachers literally obey the Scripture injunction, and go about preaching without pay or compensation, expecting to get their board, clothes, and the necessaries of life from their converts.

AT the Jewish Synagogue yesterday morning, Mr. H. Bornstien officiating, the following prayer was offered up:—Our Hevenly Father, we come before Thee on this occasion in the attitude of deep humiliation and grievous sorrow, caused by the awful calamity which our sister nation has sustained by the death of her Chief Magistrate from the hands of a wicked man. We humbly bow to Thy inscrutable will in all things, fully trusting that Thy Divine care and merciful province will so guide and protect the American nation that quietness and tranquility will prevail within their borders, and that the terrible blow may not result in evil to any of their inhabitants. In these, our humble supplications, we add the heart-felt sorrow and sympathy of this Hebrew community for the bereaved and afflicted family of the late president, pointing out to them that the Great Jehovah, "whose path the whirlwind is, whose breath the storm is," will in His care for all His people give them peace under their great affliction. Amen.

TO-MORROW.

The public offices will remain closed throughout the day. The banks and places of business will be closed at 12 o'clock. In the afternoon minute-guns will be fired from H.M.S. Thetis and Beacon Hill Battery. The bells of the fire companies and the churches will be tolled at intervals from 2 o'clock till 4 p.m.

THE SILVER BUGLE.—Shooting for the silver bugle took place at Clover Point yesterday. The V. G. Artillery and Nos. 1 and 2 Rifles, ten men from each company, competed. The bugle was won by No. 1 Rifles with a score of 372 points; No. 2 Co. making 317; and the Artillery 312. The day was very windy which will account for the smallness of the score. Capt. Wolfenden offered a prize of a silver card receiver for No. 1 Co. which was won by Sergt. Jay with a score of 49. Capt. Dupont offered a prize (a field glass) for his company which was won by gunner Rhodes with a score of 44. Capt. Fletcher gave a prize (a silver jar) for the best prize in company No. 2 which was won by Private Dassonville with a score of 41. The competition was under the direction of Mr. Bodwell.

FOR YALE.—The new steamer E. J. Irving started on her second trip at 1:30 yesterday. She had considerable freight and several passengers. Her mast was steppped and a sail bent early in the morning. She went out of the harbor in fine style, and when met by the Hunt was making splendid time.

CHASE RIVER MINE.—No settlement of the labor difficulty between the officials of the Vancouver Coal Company and the miners employed in the Chase river mine has yet been arrived at, and work has not been resumed.

FROM THE SOUND.—The steamer Geo. E. Starr arrived from Tacoma and way ports at 1 oclock yesterday with mails, passengers and freight.

SHERIDAN.—The Seattle Post says Sheridan will return in the course of three or four weeks with a new company.

Municipal Police Court.

(Before Hon. A. F. Pemberton.)

SATURDAY, Sept. 24.

A. d. and d. wished to make a few remarks and commenced to give a detailed account of yesterday's transactions. He acknowledged to having a few glasses on board, but did not believe he was drunk.

Officer McLeod's evidence did not bear out the assertion of the votary of Bacchus and he was accordingly fined the statutory five shillings.

Two other inebriates were summarily dealt with.

C. C. Fox was summoned for leaving his horse unfastened on Johnson street. He acknowledged that such was the case but asserted that he was close by the animal at the time it started off. It was impossible to fasten his horse at every house; if it had to be done he might as well give up the business; he believed his Honor had been in the habit of leaving his horse unfastened and did not see why he (defendant) should not have the same privilege.

His Honor remarked that he had left his horse unfastened but that he had been fined for it.

Officer Hough stated the facts of the case, which were that there was no one in sight when the horse ran away.

His Honor read the law on the case and remarked that the defendant could not exercise proper care over his horse when quite away from the cart with milk. If it could be proved that the horse had been in the habit of running away he would have to impose a heavier fine.

Fined $2.50, which was paid.

Matthew Bassett was charged with stealing blankets and wearing apparel from John Martin of the value of $9 and upwards.

Prisoner pleaded guilty to the charge and stated that he was so drunk that he did not know what he was about.

Supt. O'Connor said he knew nothing against the prisoner. He had deliberately stolen the property and came to town and sold it for less than one fourth of its value and therefore he could not have been very drunk.

Prisoner was remanded for three days.

The Villard Party.

OMAHA, Sept. 23.—A distinguished party of railroad magnates and capitalists interested in the Northern Pacific, passed through Omaha to-day, en route to San Francisco. They occupy a Belgic & Pullman private car. The party was composed of Henry Villard, president of the Northern Pacific R. R., William Lloyd Garrison, jr., (his brother-in-law), E. A. Spofford, (Villard's secretary), Herr Herzog, secretary of state and private counsellor of Germany, being second rank to Bismarck, Herr Enthosen, of London, who carries on a large merchandise business in Calcutta, Commander H. H. Gorring, U. S. navy, who brought the Egyptian Obelisk Cleopatra's Needle to New York, James Henry Browne, a well known correspondent and author, Hon. Geo. A. Pillsbury, of the Union, H. J. Winsor, formerly U. S. consul to Germany, N. P. Hollowell, Chas. Fairchild, of Boston, A. S. Stokes, Wm. D. Bates, Chicago, Gen. H. C. Burnett, C. F. McKinnie, J. C. Henderson, H. H. Tyndall, New York. The above party represents the immense amount of capital to be invested in the Northern Pacific new syndicate formed a short time since and called the Oregon Transcontinental company. A large amount of German capital is being invested in the enterprise.

The Vancouver Coal Company are pushing forward the work at their new 600 foot shaft on the Esplanade. The new hoisting gear has been placed in position and the large sinking trucks are now being utilized in hauling the debris from the shaft, which is being used in ballasting the railway from the shaft to the wharves. At present the small engine and boiler are being used to supply the necessary, but in a few days the proper engines and boilers will be placed in position.

The historic steamer Beaver was placed on the beach on Thursday for the purpose of cleaning her hull. The Beaver was the first steam vessel that ever plowed the waters of the Pacific Ocean, and having been built of live English oak is as sound and strong to-day as when she was built. In the Odd-Fellows library at Victoria can be seen a couple of bolts which were taken out of the Beaver about 10 years ago, and strange to say the wood has eaten away the iron, instead of the iron eating into the wood.

STRANGE PREDICAMENT.—The custom department at New Westminster has a flag but no staff; and the marine and fishery department has a flagstaff but no flag. When the order came from Ottawa to hoist the Dominion flag at half mast neither could obey the order. In the early days of the province when there was but one blanket between two miners both used to crowd beneath the same covering. Did it not occur to the custom department to hoist its flag on the marine and fishery pole?

J. P. DAVIES & Co.'s sale of Oak Bay real estate took place at noon yesterday. The bidding was at times spirited and the sale resulted as follows: Lot 10, 4 three fifths acres, to W. A. Elliott at $150 per acre; lot 7, 5 one-fifth acres, to W. Pollard, at $80 per acre; lot 8, 6 three-tenths acres to W. Baker, at $55 per acre and sold afterwards at $100 per acre; lot 6, 11 three-fifths acres, to J. D. Pemberton, at $90 per acre; lots 5 and 6, 7 three-fifths acres, to R. White, at $55 per acre.

THE LOST CHILD.—No trace has been found of the lost child of Mr. Gavan Hamilton. The case is the most painful that has come our to notice since the Charlie Ross affair. That the child is still alive and in bad hands there is too much reason to fear.

ORDERS for piano tuning should be left at M. W. WAITT & Co. before October 1st R. S. Francis will be absent a few weeks after that date to fill orders in Oregon and Puget Sound. *

THE new boiler recently imported by Mr. Heathorne has been put in position and the machinery of Rock Bay Tannery overhauled. A tall brick chimney 75 feet in height is to be erected.

ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER.—Through inadvertance the name of Past Prin. Boyd was ommitted from the list of installing officers last Friday.

THE DOUGLAS MEMORIAL.—The obelisk on this memorial was placed in position yesterday.

THE steamer Etta White will leave this morning for Burrard Inlet.

It will be seen by reference to our advertising columns that the British Columbia Agricultural Association hold their first show on the 20th, 21st and 22nd prox., at their new and beautiful grounds on the Cadboro Bay road. We do not doubt that the island farmers will have to compete with some stunning specimens from the lower Fraser.

The collegiate and high school has now 31 pupils in attendance, with the prospect of several more in a few days.

The other day Mr. Macnamara purchased the lot on the opposite bank of the Fraser adjoining Brownville on the northeast.

Capt. Pittendrigh received instructions by telegraph to direct that all flags of vessels in port be put at half mast from sunrise to sunset till after the funeral of the late president of the United States.

DELAYED DISPATCHES.

EASTERN STATES.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Guiteau evidently does not dread the trial half so much as he does the vengeance of the people. He has fretted himself sick in the apprehensions of mob violence. He has been put on sick diet by the jail physician, and asks his guards and warden every time whether there is any indication of an attack on the jail to take him out. He seems to entertain hopes of escaping with a light penalty if he can escape popular indignation.

ARKADELPHIA, Sept. 23—A train on the Iron Mountain railroad was boarded by three masked young men, who went through the passengers, getting $30,000 in currency. Before leaving the train they threw a package containing $1500 of it back under the impression that it was valueless.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR.

A Guard Formed to Protect Him.

ELBERON, Sept. 21.—Upon the arrival of Arthur a very few so far forgot the proprieties of the occasion as to throw their hats in the air and wave him a salute. After session of the cabinet president Arthur paid a visit of condolence to Mrs. Garfield. The meeting is described as very affecting, and the president was overcome with emotion.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—The following was issued on white paper with a black border and freely circulated:

WASHINGTON, D.C.,
Sept. 19, midnight.

Fellow Citizens:—In the name of the now headless trunk of the republic you are called upon to join at this minute's notice "The Holy Alliance of Vigilants" in order to shield and guard until congress provides, the one and only life that stands at this hour, under the constitution, between order and anarchy. Let us see to it that peace be to the ashes of him now canonized in the hearts of his countrymen, and that his sacred dust shall not be scattered to the four winds by factions or revolutions. "God reigns and the government at Washington still lives." Address the secretary of the nation minute men of America, 28½ Thirteenth street.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The cabinet had Arthur take the oath to-day before a justice of the supreme court because of a precedent ruling that way. It is now said that the president will not go to Cleveland. One of the historical pictures in the chapter of national affairs to-day, was the presence of Senator Sherman and ex-president Hayes at the taking of the oath by Arthur, whom they had removed from the collectorship of New York two years ago.

A meeting of the cabinet was held immediately after the ceremony of administering the oath was concluded, and continued until 1:30 o'clock. A proclamation was prepared and signed by the president designating Monday the 26th inst. the day on which the funeral takes place, as a day of fasting, humiliation and prayer throughout the country. No other business was transacted. The members of the cabinet were requested to retain their respective positions. It is authoritatively learned, as well as indicated by the president's inaugural address, there will be no session of congress until the regular session in December next.

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—Post's Washington special: From all that can be learned it is very evident there will be many cabinet changes as soon as the new administration is fairly launched. Friends of Arthur say, however, these changes will not occur for thirty, possibly for sixty days, unless in the meantime some of cabinet shall insist upon surrendering their resignations that have been formally requested to remain for the present. From preparations that are made by some of the cabinet, it seems probable they do not expect or intend to remain.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The first appointment by Arthur was that of continuing Rear Admiral Nichols as acting secretary of the navy. This appointment was the last official act of President Garfield before leaving the white house for the depot July 2d.

THE FUNERAL OBSEQUIES OF GARFIELD.

The Body to be Buried on Monday.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—The railway from Elberon to Washington was lined with insignia of mourning. At all the stations minute guns were fired and bells tolled. The funeral train reached Washington at 2 o'clock yesterday. The remains were carried to the rotunda of the capital where they now lie in state.

WASHINGTON, Sept 23, 5.30 p. m.—The funeral ceremonies were concluded at about 3 o'clock this afternoon. The casket was at once removed to the hearse at the east front of the capitol. The hearse, which was followed by a long train of carriages two abreast, and the military, marched up the avenue to the depot and dispersed and the casket was at once taken to the train in waiting at the Baltimore and Potomac depot. The sidewalks of the avenue and the intersecting street corners are crowded by thousands of spectators. The farewell train left Washington at 5.15 and Baltimore at 6.46 o'clock.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 23.—A programme of music for the funeral Monday was adopted as follows: Beethoven's funeral march; hymn, "Thou art gone to the grave but we will not deplore thee;" "I yield my spirit," and Garfield's favorite beginning, "Ho, reapers of life's harvest, why stand with rusted blades until night draws round thee and day begins to fade." The main decorations consist of magnificent arches, one at each end of Monumental Park, two at the corner of Euclid avenue, two on the corner of Erie and Superior and one at the entrance to Lakeview cemetery. Draped banners stretch across the principal streets bearing mottoes and quotations from the illustrious dead.

Mrs. Garfield to-day expressed her sincere desire not again to see the White House where she passed so many days of sorrow and anxiety, and will not visit it while in the city but remain at the residence of MacVeagh.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Gen. Sherman is one of the guards of honor to accompany the remains of the late president of the United States from the national capital to Cleveland and to continue with them until they are consigned to their final resting place.

The Yale Fire.

We are the sole agents in British Columbia for the J. and J. TAYLOR, Toronto, Safe Works. These safes have alll the modern improvements and are now made to withstand a fire equal to that at St. John or Chicago. The non-conducting flange is the latest of these improvements and has been adopted after the most severe tests of its fire-resisting qualities. Instead of castiron they now use galvanized homogeneous steel which is much stronger and tougher.

This new style of safe having so many practical advantages can be recommended as the best in the market.
